

Abstract of the Disclosure:

A semiconductor module and a method for its fabrication are described. The semiconductor module has at least one semiconductor component that is disposed directly on a 5 substrate body. The substrate body has an insulating ceramic provided with a metal layer. At least one connection conductor is joined to the metal layer by welding, in particular laser microwelding.

REL/vs